Tour Itinerary:

DAY 01:

Pinnawala Elephant Orphanage - Minneriya National Park

After meeting you at the airport, we begin the journey to Sigiriya, the first destination of this Special Sri Lanka Wildlife Tour.

Depending on your arrival/pick-up time you might have the opportunity for a stop-over at the Pinnawala Elephant Orphanage, where you can observe the feeding and bathing of an elephant herd. Alternatively, you can embark on an afternoon elephant safari at the Minneriya National Park.

Overnight in Sigiriya.

A haven for the time traveler, the nature lover, the escapist, and the explorer, your hotel is nestled in nature's serenity right in the heart of Sri Lanka's Cultural Triangle. A place that soothes the soul, rejuvenates the senses and awakens the mind with heavy doses of nature's tranquility and centuries-old hospitality.

DAY 02:

Sigiriya Rock Fortress - Kaudulla National Park

While there you should visit the Sigiriya Rock Fortress Sigiriya. The unique Sigiriya Rock was formed by hardened magma from an extinct volcano. The first impressive detail will be the Lion Staircase leading to the former palace garden. Unfortunately only two lion paws and the masonry walls surrounding it are still in existence. The royal gardens are amongst the oldest landscaped gardens in the world. The Sigiriya Mirror Wall was so well polished in ancient days that the king could see himself whilst he walked alongside it. The frescoes of the heavenly maidens show Asparagus, beautiful, supernatural female beings in Indian mythology.

Otherwise, this day is dedicated to the Kaudulla National Park, where you can see 24 different species of mammals. Most importantly a population of about 200 wild elephants. There are also 435 species of endemic birds in Sri Lanka. The topography of the Kaudulla National Park consists of small hills, lowlands, forests, and scrubland. The park is named after the ancient Kaudulla irrigation tank which is fed by a giant canal.

DAY 03:

The Knuckles Mountain Range -

Before we proceed to Kandy, our next destination, we stop at the Knuckles Mountain Range which forms a closed fist. The isolated Knuckles Range harbors several relics, endemic flora, and fauna that are distinct from the central massif. More than 34 percent of Sri Lanka's endemic trees, shrubs, and herbs are only found in these forests. It is a declared conservation area, the Knuckles National Heritage and Wilderness Area. Spanning 155 square kilometers it is one of the main ECO destinations in Sri Lanka. Here you can see majestic forest formations, rare and endemic flora, and fauna as well as breathtaking mountain scenery. The Knuckles Range is home to no less than 200 bird species. Fifteen of these species are endemic to Sri Lanka: Spot Winged thrush, Sri Lankan blue magpie Jungle fowl, Yellow-fronted Barbet, small barbet, Sri Lankan warbler, White-faced starling, Sri Lanka white-eye, Black-headed Bulbul, Yellow-eared Bulbul, dusk blue flycatcher, brown capped babbler and Layard's parakeet. The best way to explore the Knuckles is on the many hiking and mountain bike trails, leading you across clear mountain streams, past dense tropical forests, past flowing waterfalls, tea plantations, and terraced rice fields. The small mountain villages provide an insight into the traditional Sri Lanka lifestyle.

In the evening you can attend a cultural show by the famous Kandy Dancers

DAY 04:

Udawatta Kele Sanctuary

The Udawatta Kele Sanctuary (Udawattakele) is a 104 hectares large historic forest reserve on a hill-ridge north of Kandy Lake. During the days of the Kandyan kingdom, Udawatta Kele was known as "Uda Wasala Watta" in Sinhalese meaning "the garden above the royal palace". It is a natural paradise filled with hardwood trees and giant bamboo, good birding, and cheeky monkeys. Being easily accessible and containing a variety of flora and fauna the forest has a great educational and recreational value. Udawatta is famous for its extensive avifauna. There are several giant lianas and many of the small and medium-size mammals that inhabit Sri Lanka can be seen here. The forest is very popular with bird watchers. The most seen are parakeets, black-crested bulbul, barbets, and the Asian koel. Some of the other bird species seen in the park include Sri Lanka gray hornbill, Sri Lanka hanging parrot, Layard's parakeet, and Oriental dwarf kingfisher. The rare clipper, Ceylon birdwing, and blue Mormon are the butterflies known from the park.

DAY 05:

Tea Plantations - Nuwara Eliya - Ella - Udawalawe National Park

On our way to the South Coast, we pass through the hill country via the 'tea capital' Nuwara Eliya and Ella (Sri Lanka's highest village). The route is dotted with many tea plantations and scenic viewpoints. Those who are interested can observe the whole process of the 'making of original Ceylon Tea' from harvesting (plucking) to the testing of the final product.

In the afternoon we reached the Udawalawe National Park. Just as Sri Lanka's first national park, the Yala National Park, Udawalawe lies towards the southern portion of the island. Sri Lankan elephants at Udawalawe can be even seen during the afternoon and the high probability of experiencing the glorious creature in its natural habitat is one of the most attractive features of the park. Multiple elephants or even herds of elephants can be spotted at Udawalawe occasionally. The chances of witnessing a herd of Sri Lankan elephants are extremely high near rivers and the reservoir of Udawalawe.

Other animals include the elusive leopards, water buffalos, nimble deer, and crocodiles. Flocks of birds that belong to a large number of varying species, including species of eagles, parrots, and herons can all be observed easily. Certain sights you witness at Udawalawe will linger in your mind and hearts for eternity and these include elephants bathing, the enormous nests of eagles, as well as the rapid runs of the peacocks.

DAY 06:

Yala National Park

Early in the morning, you will embark on a safari by 4 wheel drive Jeep together with a driver/guide at the Yala National Park. Yala is one of the best parks in the world to observe and photograph leopards in the wild. There are about 35 leopards in the park which probably is the highest density than anywhere else. Young males in particular seem to have no fear of the jeep, which can lead to some excellent photographic opportunities.

Other animals to be seen at the Yala National Park include bears, monkeys, wild boars, and thousands of local and migrant birds. Just to name a few. In the afternoon you will have the opportunity to go on another safari or just relax at the pool and watch all kinds of animals passing by on their way to their resting places.

DAY 07:

South/West Coast - Transfer to the airport or your next destination in Sri Lanka

After checking out of the hotel we drive you along the South- and West Coast back to the airport or your next destination in Sri Lanka.
